

Sunny celebration for Mariel Hemingway

By Ian Mohr

April 7, 2015 | 6:48pm

Mariel Hemingway at a party for her new memoir "Out Came the Sun"
Photo: Patrick McMullan

Mariel Hemingway's memoir "Out Came the Sun" has some not-so-sunny memories — including her parents' drinking and fighting and a sister's battle with mental illness.

But Libby Bonbright, Candace Bushnell, Jay McInerney, Holly Peterson and Carole Radziwill hosted a happy party for the tome at a $9 million residence at Edward Minskoff's 37 E. 12th St.

Hemingway thanked boyfriend Bobby Williams for "changing her life" during an emotional speech.

From left: Candace Bushnell, Libby Bonbright, Mariel Hemingway, Jay McInerney, Carole Radziwill, Holly Peterson
Photo: Patrick McMullan